

SC. 1

INDY

Hello, Nora.

Nora drops glass, turns to see Indy.

NORA

Indiana Jones. Always knew someday you'd come walking back through my door. I never doubted that.

Something made it inevitable. So,
what are you doing here?

INDY

I need one of the pieces your father collected.

Nora spins to him—

NORA

You know-- I learned to hate you in the last ten years!

INDY

I never meant to hurt you.

NORA

I was a child. I was in love. It was wrong and you knew it.

INDY

You knew what you were doing.

NORA

Now I do. This is my place. Get out!

INDY

I need one of the pieces your father collected. A bronze piece with a crystal in it.

NORA

Yeah. I know it.

INDY

Where's Abner?

Nora puts down the tray and sighs.

INDY

(CONT'D)

Where's Abner?

NORA

Abner's dead.

INDY

Nora, I'm sorry.

NORA

Do you know what you did to me, to my life?

INDY

I can only say I'm sorry so many times.

NORA

Well, say it again anyway.

INDY

Sorry.

NORA

Yeah, everybody's sorry. Abner was sorry for dragging me all over this earth looking for his little bits of junk. I'm sorry to still be stuck in this dive. Everybody's sorry for something.

INDY

It's a worthless bronze medallion,
Nora. You going to give it to me?

NORA

Maybe. I don't know where it is.

INDY

Well maybe you could find it. Three thousand bucks.

NORA

Well, that will get me back, but 3

not in style.

INDY

I can get you another two when we get to the states. It's important, Nora. Trust me. You know the piece

I mean. Do you know where it is?

Nora laughs.

NORA

Come back tomorrow.

INDY

Why?

NORA

Because I said so, that's why.

Nora walks away from Indy and Indy turns to leave.

NORA

Ha! See you tomorrow, Indiana
Jones.